THE PSYCHOLOGICAL INDEX

The Psychological Index is a bibliography of psychological literature which was published annually for the American Psychological Association from 1895 to 1936. Twelve of the forty-two volumes are out-of-print: numbers 2, 3, 4, 5, 9, 12, 18, 19, 20, 22, 25, and 26. The remaining 30 issues are priced at $2.00 per volume, and sold in sets or separately.

Ten per cent discount is given on orders over fifty dollars.

DECEMBER 1952

LIST OF JOURNALS REGULARLY SEARCHED

So that users of PSYCHOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS may know the extent of our coverage, we publish below the sixth annual list of journals which are regularly searched. This list, revised by the deletion of journals which it is no longer possible to cover regularly and by the addition of other journals, totals 467. The searching categories are indicated by type face: bold face, journals received by the editorial office; roman, journals searched by the abstracter. The list is correct as of 1 October 1952. In those cases where no abstracter is indicated, the journal is temporarily unassigned.

AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

1333 Sixteenth Street N.W.

Washington 6, D. C.

The American Psychological Association, founded in 1892 and incorporated in 1925, is the major psychological organization in the United States. With approximately 11,000 members, it includes most of the qualified psychologists in the country. The purpose of the APA is to advance psychology as a science, as a profession, and as a means of promoting human welfare. It attempts to further these objectives by holding annual meetings, publishing psychological journals, and working toward improved standards for psychological training and service. It also publishes a monthly Employment Bulletin containing notices of vacancies and situations wanted.

In order to give recognition to the specialized interests of different psychologists, the APA includes seventeen Divisions. Any person, after becoming a member of the APA, may apply for membership in as many Divisions as he wishes. The Divisions are:

- Division of General Psychology
- Division on the Teaching of Psychology
- Division of Experimental Psychology
- Division on Evaluation and Measurement
- Division on Childhood and Adolescence
- Division of Personality and Social Psychology
- The Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues—a Division of the American Psychological Association
- Division on Esthetics
- Division of Clinical and Abnormal Psychology
- Division of Consulting Psychology
- Division of Industrial and Business Psychology
- Division of Educational Psychology
- Division of School Psychologists
- Division of Counseling and Guidance
- Division of Psychologists in Public Service
- Division of Military Psychology
- Division on Maturity and Old Age

Each division has its own officers. Each meets annually at the time and place of the APA meeting. Each has its own membership requirements, which in some cases are higher or more specialized than the requirements for election to the APA.

The annual meetings of the APA are held in September. An attempt is made to choose meeting sites in such a way that attendance will be convenient for members and their guests in different sections of the country at different times. Thus, the 1953 meeting will be held from September 4 through September 9 at Michigan State College, and the 1954 meeting in New York City. These meetings provide the members with an opportunity to present or hear reports of psychological research and lectures on topics of psychological interest, and to participate in formal and informal discussion groups. The research reports, lectures, and discussion groups cover varied topics of current interest within the field of psychology.

The chief governing body of the APA is the Council of Representatives. It includes representatives from each of the Divisions. A Board of Directors, composed of the six officers of the APA (President, Past President, President-elect, Recording Secretary, Executive Secretary, and Treasurer) and six Council members elected by the Council, is the administrative agent of the Council and exercises general supervision over the affairs of the Association.

The APA maintains an office in Washington which acts as a coordinating center for all APA activities. Journal subscriptions, membership applications, personnel placement requests, and general APA business procedures are handled in this office.

ANNUAL CLUB RATES FOR JOURNALS

American Psychological Association

The American Psychological Association offers its journals in various combinations at special rates. If you are now subscribing to several of the Association's journals at the individual subscription rates, you can secure additional journals or save money by subscribing to one of the combinations described below in the table. At the left are the names of the journals; the second column gives their individual subscription prices; the third column gives their club-rate prices. The reduction in price for each journal is the same no matter in what combination it appears. The numbers given the combinations are the same as in former years.

Combination 1 includes all ten journals published by the Association. Combination 4 includes the seven journals which the Association has published the longest time. Other combinations can be determined from inspection of the table.

Club rates are available on a January-December basis only.

This vital book shows how sociology may aid in crime prevention

WHO is responsible for the enormity of our crime rate? Society? The home? The school? The delinquent? This authoritative book by an outstanding psychiatrist brings together for the first time all the information on the subject. Here are numerous case histories, the origin of emotional difficulties, types of delinquency, sex and murder, prison treatment and rehabilitation, mental health in schools, preventive action, and education as a means of preventing crime.

"Penetrating . . . invaluable . . . Provides the means for diminishing the origins and effects of this national disaster . . . a challenging, exciting and optimistic work."—Leo M. Chernes, Executive Secretary, Research Institute of America

This important book is an eloquent plea that any sociologist, teacher or student will find vital to the health of our nation. Bibliography, index and glossary of prison jargon.
